General Guidelines for Patients

Your consultation

Mr Mckiernan consults at each of the above hospitals, and they hold his diary. Please telephone the hospital of your choice on the number given, and they will be able to make you a convenient appointment. Whilst it is advisable to have a referral from your General Practitioner, it is not essential. However, Mr Mckiernan likes to work closely with your General Practitioner and will write to them after the consultation, unless you have any objection. Your initial consultation will take approximately half an hour.

If you require investigation with scans or x-rays, then your follow up appointment needs to be made directly with the hospital in order that you can see Mr Mckiernan to discuss the results.

Insured patients

Please provide your medical insurance details either before or at your consultation as this will enable invoices to be sent directly to the insurance company. Any shortfall that is not paid by your insurance company becomes your responsibility and an invoice will be sent to you for settlement.

If you require a claim form to be completed by Mr Mckiernan, please send this to him at the above address.

Un-insured/self-pay patients

An invoice will be sent to you by post shortly after each consultation and/or treatment. As we do not presently accept card payments please send your cheque in settlement of this account to the address above.

The hospital where you are seen may levy additional charges for any tests performed and for the use of specialist equipment and will take your credit/debit card details to settle their account if applicable.

Private Secretary
